About Osmania University:

Osmania University, one of the oldest universities in India, was established in 1918 and is the seventh oldest learning center in the country. It is known for its excellence in research, academic achievement, and commitment to developing future leaders. The University has made significant contributions to various fields, including business management, science, technology, and healthcare. With an emphasis on the development of female students, the university has established the Center for Women's Studies (CWS) to promote the role of women in culture and ethics.

Conference Themes:

The International Conference on "Women: Enablers of Change" aims to deliberate on the intricacies of gender equality across class, caste, and region. The conference seeks to promote a better understanding of the multi-dimensional contributions made by women to the fields of social work, administration, and entrepreneurship. It also focuses on sensitization programs for staff and students by eminent professionals in the fields of medicine, psychology, and education.

Call for Papers:

The conference will feature sessions on topics related to business, education, entrepreneurship, finance, science, technology, research, healthcare, and more. It is open to contributions from researchers, practitioners, and policymakers in these fields. All submissions must be in English and submitted by 31 December 2020. Acceptance of papers will be based on originality, relevance, and quality.

Publication of Full Papers:

Selected papers will be published in a book with ISBN and released on 8th March 2021. The papers will be peer-reviewed and evaluated based on the originality and relevance to the conference themes.
